

You Are What You Eat Marine Animal Cards

Photocopy and cut along dotted lines.
Each student receives one complete set.

 1. Bottlenose dolphin: feeds on surfperch in open water below surface, grabs with teeth.	 2. Orca: eats fish and marine mammals, grabs with teeth. Feeds in open water below surface.	 3. Gull: eats fish, inter-tidal organisms, beach debris. Feeds on shore, top of water, grabs food with beak.	 4. Sperm whale: eats squid and fish below surface. Grabs food with long, narrow mouth.	 5. Common dolphin: feeds below surface in open water. Grabs small squid, other small fish with teeth.
 6. Loggerhead sea turtle: eats jellies, fish, mussels, clams, crabs; grabs them with toothless mouth.	 7. Elegant tern: feeds on anchovies and other fish, floats or dives shallowly into the water.	 8. Sea bass: feeds below surface in open water, sucks herring, krill, and anchovies into its large mouth.	 9. Forster's tern: feeds on various small fish floats along or dive shallowly into water.	 10. Sea otter: feeds on benthic urchins and shellfish, bringing them to the surface to eat.

 1. Bottlenose dolphin: feeds on surfperch in open water below surface, grabs with teeth.	 2. Orca: eats fish and marine mammals, grabs with teeth. Feeds in open water below surface.	 3. Gull: eats fish, inter-tidal organisms, beach debris. Feeds on shore, on water, grabs food with beak.	 4. Sperm whale: eats squid and fish below surface. Grabs food with long, narrow mouth.	 5. Common dolphin: feeds below surface in open water. Grabs small squid, other small fish with teeth.
 6. Loggerhead sea turtle: eats jellies, fish, mussels, clams, crabs; grabs them with toothless mouth.	 7. Elegant tern: feeds on anchovies and other fish, floats or dives shallowly into the water.	 8. Sea bass: feeds below surface in open water, sucks herring, krill, and anchovies into large mouth.	 9. Forster's tern: feeds on various small fish floats along or dive shallowly into the water.	 10. Sea otter: feeds on benthic urchins and shellfish, bringing them to the surface to eat.